2nd Sunday
of Lent
March 5, 2023

The sun is struggling to master the cold winds so that he can bring spring again to our northern land.

We are discovering the struggle to master our bodily longings so that we can let Lent open our hearts to Jesus our Lord.

This mastery is not easy – we discover how ingrained indulgence can be.

So Jesus takes us up a mountain with Peter, James, and John – away from distracting dissipation.

And He shows us why it is so urgent to open our hearts:

Because He Is God the Son.

Divine clarity suffuses our minds just as gold fills this image painted by a saint, Blessed Angelico.

Creation's Lord is revealed – the light shines from Him, for He is the Son.

The new Israel is revealed – Moses descended the mountain shining with reflected light –

Jesus is that Light.

The future is unveiled – Elijah was swept up into Heaven in chariots of fire – Jesus is that Heaven.

For Jesus is the Torah, Jesus is the Law, Jesus is the prophets.

Jesus' is the Glory of God the Father who Speaks:

“Listen to Him”

Like Peter, James, and John – this will terrify us – overwhelm us – bring us to our knees – if we try and look we cannot bear it, looking at the sun is too much, how much more is looking at the Son and His Glory.

So the Son's Glory is revealed to us in a way that we can bear... or can we?

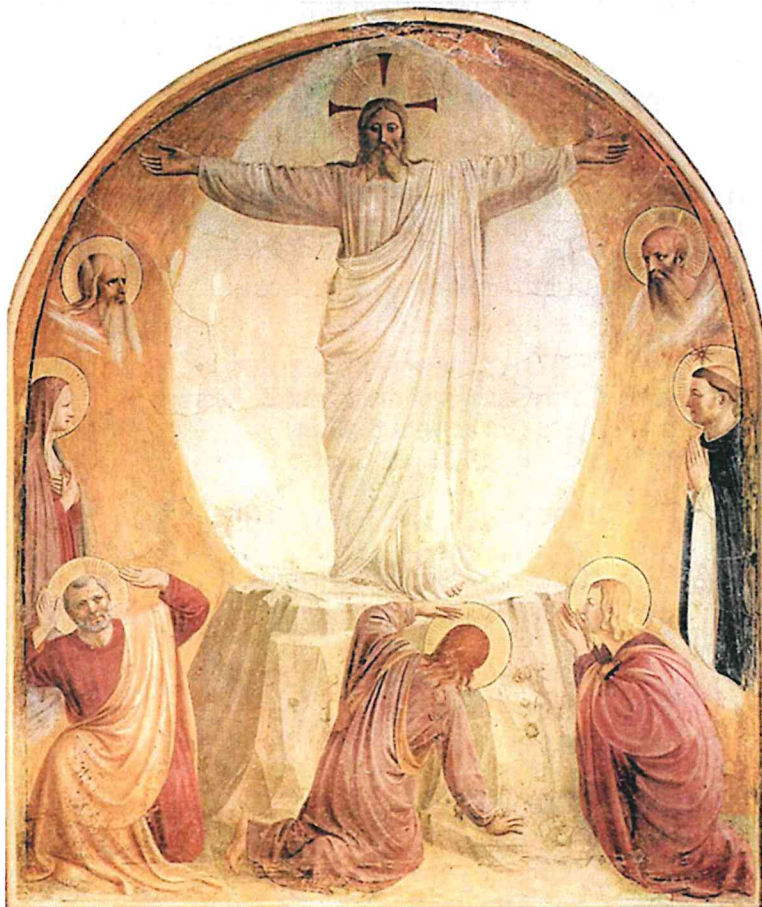

The Son's glory – look at how He stands – is only fully revealed on the Cross.

Yes, Christ's Glory shines through love that suffers for the sake of love – for God is Love.

That is why we keep at our Lenten fast and bear a bit of suffering – for Love.

Love that opens our Lenten suffering – all our suffering – to be the place of meeting Jesus' glory.

Suffering Transfigured by Love.
